We Provide Customized Education and Training

- Accomplish your goals on your timeline with customized training.
- Track performance with built-in training
- Work confidently in S1000D and broader S-Series environments.
- Choose in-person, virtual or self-paced courses
- Increase your team's efficiency.

Problem

Keeping your staff up to date on technical publication capabilities and industry standards can be costly and time-consuming. And, if S1000D is new to your team, you'll find there is a steep learning curve and gaining a strong working knowledge would be difficult to climb.

UNIVERSITY OF Pentecom

Solution

University of Pentecom (UP) addresses those gaps with training that bridges your staff's knowledge with current technical data environments and gives them confidence in applying the international standard.

Customized training focusing on what your teams need.

University of Pentecom

Customized training in standards and tools.

Translating complex technical jargon into practical steps.

How Pentecom Can Help

UP courses and content can be customized to meet your company's specific needs and timelines. That flexibility extends to whether you are looking for remote training with an instructor, an in-person instructor at your site or ours, or self-paced options.

Pentecom's subject matter experts can help your program and project managers, contract and S1000D administrators, technical writers and editors, illustrators, and others improve your organization's data.

Our professionals understand how S1000D is applied across defense requirements and can easily adapt training for the U.S. Army, Air Force, Coast Guard, Marines, and Navy.

Based on that experience, Pentecom has developed a library of courses, including:

- S1000D Overview
- S1000D Authoring
- S1000D Business Rules
- XML Overview
- S1000D Illustrations and Multimedia

Why Our Customers Trust Us

Results increase your team's efficiency, turnaround time, data quality and more.

We distinguish our training by developing independent courses that are not tied to a specific software product, ensuring an unbiased understanding of S1000D and other topics.

UP's instructors have the knowledge and experience to address complex topics and bring best practices to each training module.

Customized training focuses on what your team needs, maximizing time and efforts. Contact us today. Let's get your team working smarter and faster.
